On the right side there are 3 fields that need to be completed. The first one is for setting and email address to which the user will send the photos from the device. (the address can be edited from the device). In the second field you have to indicate how many cover templates you want to have. Finally in the third field you need to link each cover template to a customized image (e.g. magazine template image).

Let's see how it works on the device
We can see three buttons. Click on the top-right to take a photo

Press take picture to make a photo. After you took the photo, you can change the cover templates clicking on the arrows.

Once you have taken a picture and added a cover image to it, you can email it or delete.

At the "send email" form there are 4 fields. Each can be edited.
